

Letters to the Editor, March 9

Time is running out

We should not cede more power to the few who would like to command our local government unless they clearly demonstrate they have the highest good for the most people and do not marginalize any single group of citizens.

When elected individuals cannot truthfully defend their actions, citizens have the legitimate right to recall. Some even feel it is a democratic obligation. Ashland is at a critical juncture; elected commissioners are trying to convince residents that marginalization isn't happening here. It is! Vote yes to unite Ashland. Time is running out to vote. Tuesday, March 13, is the last day, so through the mail may be too late. Drop off your ballot in the election box behind the Ashland Library.
